No. 898-F.—The following information is published for the guidance of persons who own investments in Indian sterling loans and who not being resident in the United Kingdom wish to obtain payment of the interest without deduction of British Income Tax. The procedure to be adopted varies with the form in which the investment is held :—

Holdings in the form of Bonds or Stock Certificates to Bearer.

If the investment is held in the form of bonds or stock certificates to bearer and exemption from British Income Tax is claimed by or on behalf of the owner when the coupons, etc., are presented for payment in London a declaration on one of the following Inland Revenue forms must in every case accompany the coupons :—

Form A.—Form A to be completed by the owner of the bonds, etc. Where the coupons are transmitted to the presenting Agent in London through a Banker or Merchant abroad, the declaration at the foot of the form must be signed by the latter.

Form C.—Form C to be completed by a Banker or Merchant in London holding the bonds, etc., on behalf of clients abroad.

Form C-5.—Form C-5 to be completed by a Banker or Merchant in London, with whom the bonds, etc., are deposited by a Banker or Merchant abroad on behalf of the latter's clients abroad.

Form D.—Form D to be completed by a Banker abroad on behalf of the actual owner of the bonds, etc. This form is intended to be used in exceptional cases only (the general rule being that the owner should himself make a declaration on Form A) and may only be used by Bankers holding the specific authority of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue to make declaration on Form D, and subject to the strict observance of certain conditions prescribed by those Commissioners.

A separate declaration on Form A, C, C-5 or D should be made in respect of coupons, etc., payable by each London Paying Agent, and each declaration on Form A or Form D must be accompanied by a covering declaration on Form B, made by the London Agent who presents the coupons for payment.

It is necessary for a fresh declaration to be made each time coupons are presented for payment.

Holdings in the form of Registered or Inscribed Stock.

If the investment is held in the form of registered or inscribed stock and it is desired to claim payment of the interest without deduction of British Income Tax the owner should make a declaration on the Inland Revenue Form A-5. This declaration, duly completed, should be despatched so as to reach the Inspector of Foreign and Colonial Dividends, York House, 23, Kingsway, London, W. C. 2, England, not later than seven weeks before the date upon which the warrant for interest is payable.

A fresh declaration on Form A-5 need not be made thereafter unless called for by the Inland Revenue Authorities or necessitated by a change in the circumstances of the holding, etc. (see note at the foot of the form).

The forms of declaration A, D and A-5 referred to above may be obtained from the Imperial Bank of India. If the declarant resides in British India declarations may be made before a Notary Public or a Magistrate in British India.

Rectification of mistake.

Provided that no such rectification shall be made, having the effect of enhancing an assessment unless the Income-tax Officer has given notice to the assessee of his intention so to do and has allowed him a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(2) Where any such rectification has the effect of reducing the assessment, the Income-tax Officer shall make any refund which may be due to such assessee.

(3) Where any such rectification has the effect of enhancing the assessment, the Income-tax Officer shall serve on the assessee a notice of demand in the prescribed form specifying the sum payable, and such notice of demand shall be deemed to be issued under section 29, and the provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly.

36. In the determination of the amount of tax or of a refund payable under this Act, fractions of an anna less than six pies shall be disregarded, and fractions of an anna equal to or exceeding six pies shall be regarded as one anna.

PUBLIC.

Delhi, the 30th March 1922.

No. 592.—The following report is published for general information :—

Report of the Committee on Public Petitions.

In pursuance of the terms of the Home Department Resolution No. F-209-Public, dated the 4th February 1922, we met on the 18th and 21st February 1922 in the Committee Room at Metcalfe House. The Hon'ble Sir B. C. Mitter, the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Murray and Sir Sivaswamy Aiyer were unfortunately unable to attend.

2. The terms of reference to us were "to examine the question whether the two Chambers of the Indian Legislature should exercise any powers with reference to petitions, and, if so, what those powers should be and further in that case whether standing committees of the two Chambers should be constituted and, if so, what should be the procedure and what limitations should be imposed on the powers of the committees." Before we set forth our recommendations to Government on the points referred to us we consider it desirable to sketch, very briefly, the history of the right of petitioning Parliament, as that has largely influenced our conclusions.

3. When the practice of petitioning Parliament first arose the functions of the Courts, the Chancery and Parliament had not yet become definite. Consequently, petitions were then presented to Parliament regarding matters in respect of which the petitioners in modern times would have recourse to the ordinary judicial tribunals.

4. By the end of the 14th century the jurisdiction of the Chancery and the King's Council had been built up and Parliament was no longer the resort of suitors seeking a remedy for individual grievances. At this time, petitions were received from persons who desired to use the legislative powers of Parliament to obtain a privilegium, that is, a change of the law for their benefit or an exemption from its provisions. This procedure has in course of time developed into the modern private bill legislation.

5. It was not until the 17th century that public petitions—i.e., petitions complaining of public grievances—became at all common, but at that period the right to make and present petitions to Parliament and the right of Parliament to receive and consider petitions were clearly affirmed, notably by a resolution of the House of Commons passed in 1669. It was found, however, that the presentation, the reading and often the discussion of petitions made serious inroads on the time of the House and as petitions steadily increased it became necessary to impose limitations on the right of petitioning.

6. As the rules framed for this purpose regulate the procedure now in force it is desirable to explain them in some detail. In pursuance of a resolution of the 20th February 1833, a select committee is appointed to which all petitions are referred except such as relate to private bills. The duty of this committee is to classify, to abstract and to report. Its reports are issued twice every week during session and the committee has power, when necessary, to direct the printing of a petition in extenso. Further, by standing orders of 1842 and 1853 the House has limited the dealings with a petition on its presentation by a member to a statement of the parties from which it comes, the number of signatures, the material allegations and the prayer with which it concludes. No debate is allowed, but the petition, if required to be read, may be read by the Clerk of the House. The rule as to debate may be set aside and the petition discussed if it should disclose a case of urgency for which an immediate remedy is required.

7. The main points which emerge from this examination of the history of the right of petitioning Parliament are that it came into existence at a time when the line between the judicial functions of Parliament and its legislative functions was indefinite; and that although petitions are still presented the exercise of the right is in modern times unimportant from the constitutional point of view, as other methods have grown up by which grievances can be dealt with in a more suitable way.

8. We turn now to the questions which have been referred to us, and we may state at the outset that our view is that if a provision enabling the Indian Legislature to receive public petitions is to be introduced, the exercise of it should be regulated with reference to present-day practice in the House of Commons and not with reference to the practice in force at any earlier stage in the development of Parliament.

9. We first considered the proposal contained in the resolution moved by the Hon'ble Sir M. B. Dadabhoi in the Council of State, which led to the appointment of this committee by the Government of India. That resolution ran as follows: "this Council recommends to the Governor General in Council that this Council be authorized, if necessary by statute, to receive from the public petitions on all matters relating to public wrong, grievance or disability, or to any act or acts of public servants, or to public policy; to investigate the complaint and to make a report to this Council; and that a committee be constituted on public petitions with powers to examine witnesses and record evidence." The proposal contained in this resolution goes far beyond the present practice in Parliament and we can see no justification for giving to either Chamber of the Indian Legislature the very wide powers proposed in the resolution. It seems to us clear that if such powers were granted legislation would be required and the danger of conflict with the courts would be considerable.

10. On the other hand, petitions are as a matter of fact received from time to time from the public relating to Bills pending in the Legislature and we consider it desirable that there should be a regular procedure for receiving and dealing with such documents. We recommend, therefore, that the right of public to petition the Indian Legislature and the right of the Indian Legislature to receive petitions from the public should be formally recognized to the extent which we shall now proceed to indicate.

11. We are of opinion that the right of petitioning should be limited to public business, and after careful consideration we have come to the conclusion that it should be further limited to legislation which is actually pending before the Legislature. We are also agreed that the presentation of a petition should not be made an occasion for raising a debate. This is in accordance with the present practice of the House of Commons, and we would observe that the Indian Legislature enjoys greater opportunity than does Parliament of raising debate on matters of public interest, by resolution or otherwise. We accordingly recommend that there should be a procedure for receiving in either Chamber of the Legislature petitions relating to bills pending in that Chamber, that no debate should be allowed on the presentation of a petition and that for each Chamber a Standing Committee on Public Petitions should be constituted, the chairman and members of which should be nominated by the President of the Chamber at the commencement of each session.

12. As regards the functions of these committees we consider that the present practice of the House of Commons should be followed as closely as possible. Every petition presented to a Chamber of the Legislature should be referred to the Standing Committee of that Chamber. The duties of the Standing Committee should be to examine every petition referred to it and to submit a report to the Chamber stating:—

- (1) the subject matter of the petition;
- (2) the number of the signatories; and
- (3) whether the petition is in order or not.

The Standing Committee should also be authorised, if it found that the petition was in order, to direct that the petition in extenso, or a summary thereof, should be circulated as a paper to the Bill to which it relates. The committee should in its report state whether circulation has or has not been directed.

13. We also desire to express the opinion that the procedure to be followed in dealing with petitions in each Chamber should be laid down in a Standing Order of that Chamber. We recognize that it is not our function to draft Standing Orders for the Chambers, but we think that our recommendations can most clearly be expressed in detail in that form. We have, therefore, put our proposals in the form of the draft Standing Order appended to this report. That draft also includes our recommendations regarding certain points of procedure which we do not consider to be of sufficient importance to require explanation in the body of this report.

President.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Delhi, the 30th March 1922.

RESOLUTION.

Revised rules governing the appointment of persons possessing the qualifications in section 99, sub-section (1) of the Government of India Act to offices ordinarily filled from amongst the members of the Indian Civil Service, have been published with the Notification of the Government of India in this Department No. F.-438, dated the 30th March 1922, and the Government of India are now pleased to make the following observations for general information and for the guidance of all local Governments.

2. The main purpose of the Government of India in revising the rules was to enable local Governments to give a fair trial to the experiment, recommended by the Public Services Commission and accepted by the Secretary of State in Council, of filling certain District and Sessions Judgeships direct from the Bar. Under the old rules the appointments which were declared as open to persons who satisfied the requirements of sub-section (1) of section 99 of the Government of India Act, were chiefly intended to be filled by members of the Provincial Civil Services, and the appointments of persons other than members of the Provincial Civil Service were restricted to one-fourth of the total number of appointments so declared. Local Governments were advised in paragraph 11 of the Home Department Resolution No. 2559, dated the 1st December 1920, to utilise this power to fill up certain District and Sessions Judgeships from the Bar, but the proportion of one-fourth seriously restricts the powers of local Governments to pursue the scheme as an experimental measure, and the Government of India have accordingly, with the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, revised the rules so as to permit judicial appointments to be filled from the legal profession on equal terms with members of the Provincial Services. At the same time and in view of the extension of the power to make appointments from the Bar under the new rule 2, the percentage of persons who may be appointed to listed posts, whether judicial or executive, who do not belong either to the provincial services or the Bar, has been reduced from 25 to 15.

It must, however, be clearly understood that this decision is not intended to override the announcement made in paragraphs 9 and 11 of the abovementioned Resolution of the 1st December 1920 to the effect that there would be no reduction in the number of posts open to men promoted from the provincial civil service and that the rights of existing members of the civil services would be duly safeguarded. Local Governments will accordingly fill judicial listed posts from the provincial services as far as possible to the same extent as in the past.

3. Rules 4 and 5 are an extension of the previous arrangement and are intended to give local Governments practically full powers as regards the listing of inferior posts. In view of the exclusion of most inferior posts from the third schedule to the Government of India Act, it will practically be confined to Additional Sessions Judgeships which are included in the schedule and are occasionally, in some provinces, treated as inferior appointments.

4. Rule 1 has been revised to give effect to the new arrangement that in lieu of listing particular appointments, the total number of superior executive and judicial posts which are listed shall be notified. This will make officers promoted to posts in the Indian Civil Service cadres eligible, with members of the Indian Civil Services, on their merits for all posts in the Civil Service cadres.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to local Governments, and that it be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

4. Standard of Admission.—Candidates who have attended the lectures of the day course are eligible for admission. Others will be admitted, provided they appear qualified for the class or classes they seek to join.

5. Prizes.—Prizes of Rs. 50 each are offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the best candidates from the evening classes in subjects (b), (d), (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j). (b) A written statement of the grounds of such detention shall be forthwith served on the master of such ship.

If the surveyor and assessor agree that the ship should be detained or released, the Local Government shall cause the ship to be detained or released accordingly, and the owner or master shall have no appeal. If the surveyor and assessor differ in their report, the Local Government may act as if the requisition had not been made and the owner or master shall have such appeal touching the report of the surveyor as is hereinbefore provided in this section.

- (b) he may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance of all such persons as he thinks fit to call before him, may examine such persons, and may, by a like summons, require returns in writing to any inquiries he thinks fit to make;
- (c) he may require and enforce the production of all books, papers or documents which he considers important; and
- (d) he may administer oaths, or may, in lieu of administering an oath, require every person examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination.

Act VII of 1880, s. 30. M. S. A., s. 461.

Provided that, where the complaint is made by one-fourth, being not less than three, of the seamen belonging to the ship, and is not in the opinion of such Government or officer frivolous or vexatious, such security shall not be required; and such Government or officer shall, if the complaint is made in sufficient time before the sailing of the ship, take proper steps to ascertain whether the ship ought to be detained under this Part.

Costs, payable by Government coverable from complainant.

237. Where a ship is detained in consequence of any complaint, and the circumstances are such that the Government is liable under this Part to pay to the owner of the ship any costs of compensation, the complainant shall be liable to pay to the Government all such costs and compensation as the Government incurs, or is liable to pay, in respect of the detention and survey of the ship.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to consolidate as far as may be the Indian Acts relating to merchant shipping. The first Act now on the Indian Statute Book dealing with that subject was passed in 1838 and the last in 1920, and during this period of nearly a century, a large number of Acts have been from time to time enacted by the Legislature. The result is that the law has become increasingly difficult to refer to and the case for consolidation is very strong.

Attempts have been made on several occasions in the past to remedy this state of affairs. In 1867, again in 1882, and more particularly in the years 1893 to 1896, Bills attempting to effect a complete or partial consolidation were brought before the Legislature. These attempts failed for a variety of causes with which it is unnecessary to enter in detail, but a possible cause common to all was the fact that consolidation and amendment were undertaken at the same time. If, as seems probable, the effects to consolidate and amend at the same time were contributory to the failures in the past, such a course is not less undesirable in 1922, for the volume of the law to be dealt with is far greater and the legislative machinery is far more complex. The present Bill, therefore, does not attempt to go beyond consolidation and that not even of the whole of the law which is not feasible for reasons which will be dealt with later.

Any consolidating measure must, however, necessarily involve a consideration of the English Statute Law on the subject, for by the enactment of the Imperial Statute, the great Merchant Shipping Act of 1894, the powers of the Indian Legislature were both curtailed and extended. The Indian law has therefore to be brought into legal harmony with that enactment and its amending Acts. Save for this purpose and in the few unimportant respects, mostly necessitated by the lapse of time, which are referred to in the Notes on Clauses, no change of substance has been made intentionally.

2. The Bill is an imperfect consolidation of the law in one important respect. It leaves untouched the Indian law relating to the registration of ships. That law is contained in Act XIX of 1838 and Act X of 1841 and its amending Acts. The latter Acts were passed in virtue of Acts of Parliament which have been repealed, and though their provisions are saved there is no power to re-enact them even if it were desirable to do so. Whether they can now be repealed and the matter left to be dealt with by Part I of the English Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, which extends throughout the British Empire, or whether special provisions must be maintained to meet the case of country craft and other classes of shipping provided for by these Acts are matters which are beyond the scope of a consolidating Bill prepared under the auspices of the body which stands sponsor for the present measure.

3. The Bill has been prepared and considered by the Statute Law Revision Committee and they consider it a useful step towards the clarification of the Statute Book.

They do not, however, recommend it should be passed into law in its present shape. It is abundantly evident that numerous amendments of the law are called for, some of which they have indicated in the Notes on Clauses.

They would recommend that the passage of the present Bill should be suspended at some convenient stage in its consideration by the Indian Legislature, and that an amending Bill drawn to harmonize with this consolidating measure should, when all controversial points have been decided, be referred for amalgamation with the present Bill.

A. P. MUDDIMAN,

The 6th February 1922.

President, Statute Law Revision Committee.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—The definitions of "effects" and "wages" are new. They have been inserted for purely drafting purposes, in order to shorten the language of the Bill and follow the definitions in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, section 742.

Clause 4.—This clause does not exactly reproduce the existing law. Section 114 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1859, section 5 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1883, and section 5(c) of the Indian Steamships Act, 1884, except from the operation of the provisions of those Acts, respectively, ships “belonging to His Majesty or the Government, etc.” On the other hand, sections 3 and 80 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1880, except ships “belonging to, or hired by, Her Majesty or the Secretary of State for India in Council”; section 2 of the Native Passenger Ships Act, 1887, excepts ships of the Royal Navy and Indian Marine and “any other ship for the time being in the service of Her Majesty”; and the Indian Wireless Telegraphy (Shipping) Act, 1920, does not exempt any ships at all. As the exact amendment of the various provisions here noticed has, in the past, frequently been questioned, and as the Acts of 1859 and 1883 were amended in this respect in 1919, it seems possible that the provisions, as consolidated in the draft Bill, will be suitable and sufficient.

The Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, confers a special exemption in regard to ships belonging to a foreign State. The exemption in the English law, and the same is also probably true as regards India, rests on the general exemption consequent on the absolute independence of every sovereign authority under the international comity which induces every sovereign State to respect the independence and dignity of every other sovereign State as a consequence of which public property which is destined for the public use of a State is exempt from territorial jurisdiction. See the Parlement Belles (1890), 5 P. D. 197 C. A. As, however, the Indian Acts contain various exemptions, this clause reproduces in a generalised form the exemption of public ships of foreign States. There is a slight alteration in the law to which attention is drawn, in that Act X of 1887, section 2(2) (iii) confines the exemption to ships of war.

Clause 5 (1).—Section 262 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, exempts pleasure yachts from certain requirements of the corresponding Part, and it seems probable that the same exemption should find place in the Indian law. The matter is one for an amending Bill.

Clause 5 (2).—This gives the widest scope possible to our Indian legislation having regard to section 261 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. This part of the Bill fills up the lacunæ which the section in question leaves in the application of Part II of the Imperial Act. Sub-clause (3) of the same clause gives the widest application to the Part which is possible under the Imperial Law and refers in support of this to section 264 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

Clause 6.—The terms “shipping-master” and “shipping office” were originally used in the English Merchant Shipping law, but by section 15 of 25 and 26 Vict., C. 63, the phrases “Superintendent of a mercantile marine office” and “Mercantile marine office” were respectively substituted. From the drafting point of view there is no particular advantage in making the substitution in the Bill, and it is possible that, for administrative reasons, it may be undesirable to change well-known titles. Under section 742 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the Superintendent, so far as regards a British possession, includes any shipping-master or other officer discharging in that possession the duties of the Superintendent, so no difficulty arises in that connection from the retention of the word “shipping-master.” If for any administrative reasons the substitution is considered desirable, it is a matter which might well be dealt with by an amending Act.

Clause 9.—This clause reproduces the existing law. It may be pointed out that the fees payable upon engagements and discharges of seamen have been abolished in the United Kingdom and by the Statute Law Revision Act, 55 and 56 Vict., C. 19, the law which authorises the levy of those fees was repealed.

Clause 11.—Clause 11 has been drawn in the somewhat awkward form in which it appears in the Bill, as, though it reproduces the existing law, it seems probable that an amendment will be called for. Under the English law, section 92 of the Merchant Shipping Act, all ships to which that section applies are required to have at least a certificated master.

Clause 11 (2).—The draft Bill makes a slight change here in the existing law, as a steamship proceeding to the Straits Settlements would require engineer officers only on the scale required for home-trade ships; whereas, under section 31 of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, she is treated in this respect as a foreign-going ship. It is to be observed that the reference to the Straits Settlements was included in the definition of a "foreign-going ship" contained in section 118 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1859, by the Indian Merchant Shipping Law Amendment Act, 1891, and that a similar amendment was not made in section 30 (1) of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884. Attention is drawn to the point in case the matter may be one of practical importance.

Clause 11 (3).—The provision in Act VII of 1884, section 32, which is here re-enacted is re-enacted in an absolute form instead of depending as it does in the existing law on an order of the Local Government. This clause, it is thought, is justified as it is understood that all maritime Local Governments have made the order and the requirement is in force and is also in accordance with the trend of modern legislation.

Clause 16.—The examiners are required to report on the sobriety, experience and ability of applicants for certificates as masters and mates under the existing Indian law. The clause as drawn extends this requirement to the case of engineer certificates, and thus makes a small alteration in the law. There seems no reason why the law should not be assimilated into the English law, and the fact that the requirement does not exist would appear to be mainly due to the different periods of time at which the Acts here consolidated were enacted. As, however, a small alteration in the law is involved attention is drawn to this clause.

Clause 17.—This clause omits those portions of section 12 of Act I of 1859 which appear to be clearly spent. It further substitutes what are understood to be the modern designations of the Officers of the Naval or Royal Indian Marine officers referred to in the existing law. The Committee, however, are not in possession of sufficient information on the subject to say whether the designations employed are entirely accurate, and attention is drawn to this clause from that point of view.

Clause 22.—Following the drafting of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the provisions of the law relating to the production of certificates of competency to the shipping-master are separated from those relating to the production of the agreement with the crew, which will be found in clause 34. This separation makes the drafting clearer and is necessitated by the re-arrangement of the order of the provisions incorporated in the Bill.

Clause 23.—The provisions of the Apprentices Act, 1850 (XIX of 1850), relating to apprentices to the sea service have been reproduced in the Bill, and the references in the Apprentices Act have accordingly been repealed. It is thought that these provisions more appropriately belong to the law relating to Merchant Shipping, especially as they impose duties on shipping-masters. It may be pointed out, however, that these provisions merely refer to ships registered in British India. It has been ascertained by inquiry from those conversant with the facts that apprenticeships are made in British India to owners of ships registered in the United Kingdom. The provisions of sections 108 and 109 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, only apply in the United Kingdom. It seems desirable that they should be re-enacted mutatis mutandis in the Indian law, but the matter is one for an amending Bill.

Clause 27.—The requirement regarding agreements with the crew under the existing law, which is here reproduced, only extends to home-trade ships of three hundred tons or upwards. Attention is drawn to the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, section 113, which requires an agreement in the case of all ships, except home-trade ships of less than eighty tons.

Clause 28 (2) (f).—The power to fix the scale of provisions in the case of lascars or other native seamen is by the existing law conferred on the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council. This provision is reproduced in the Bill, but the re-arrangement of the Bill brings out the inconsistency of this division of the powers when it is considered that the form of agreement is to be sanctioned by the Governor General in Council. There appears to be some case for a consideration of an amendment of the law.

Clause 28 (2) (g).—The reference to short allowance of provisions herein contained reproduces the existing law, but it is understood that in the sanctioned form of agreement this punishment has long been struck out. In these circumstances here also there appears to be a case for the amendment of the law.

Clause 32.—This clause reproduces the existing law, but it is for consideration whether some amendment is not desirable. The clause relates to the engagement of seamen "to proceed to any port out of British India." This would include some home-trade voyages. The question seems to arise, therefore, whether some amendment is not necessary.

Clause 49.—The existing law is reproduced by this clause, but the attention of Government might be called to the provisions of section 137 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, which enables small questions of wages to be dealt with in the case of foreign-going ships without a written agreement. The matter is not, however, one that can be dealt with in a consolidating Bill.

Clause 56.—Sub-clause (2) of this clause is new. It is based on section 56 (g) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. As will be seen it is merely a drafting amendment, and, therefore, may reasonably be inserted in a consolidating Bill. It remedies a defect in the section which is obvious.

Clause 59.—In connection with this clause attention is drawn to the provisions of section 160 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, under which a seaman is not entitled to wages where his illness is only caused by his own default. Apparently under the Indian law a man is entitled to wages in those circumstances.

Clause 63.—This reproduces the existing law, but some amendment is desirable, as the Indian law does not recognise a summary suit before a Magistrate.

Clause 65.—Section 167 (2) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, gives the master and the persons lawfully acting, owing to his illness, for the master similar rights in respect of lawful disbursements. This is a provision which might well find place in an amending Bill.

Clause 75 (1) (c).—The provision here reproduced is that contained in section 56 (c) of Act VII of 1880. It seems somewhat anomalous that the control over the local authority which is appointed by the Local Government [clause 74 (2)], should be vested in the Governor General in Council.

Clause 98.—This clause reproduces the existing law, and follows the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, which only applies to ships before arrival in dock or the place of discharge. A substantial amendment is necessary if the Indian law is to be brought into harmony with the English law contained in section 218 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

Clause 147.—Under section 368 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the provisions of Part III of that Act (other than the provisions relating to passenger steamers only) do not apply to British India, but by sub-section (2) of that section, the Governor General in Council is, by Act, allowed to declare that all or any provisions of Part III shall apply to the carriage of steerage passengers upon any voyage from any specified port whatsoever. This section in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, is based on section 99 of 18 and 19 Vict., C. 119 (the Passengers' Act, 1855). Under the powers conferred by that Act, the Indian Sea Passengers' Act, 1855, was passed. The Passengers' Act dealt with the carriage of passengers of all classes. Section 368 referred to above only deals with the carriage of steerage passengers. The provisions of the Indian Sea Passengers' Act were, in effect, made applicable to certain voyages specified in section 3 of that Act, and to those voyages the provisions of sections 273 and 274 and Schedule VII of the Passengers' Act were applied. The corresponding provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894 are the provisions in case of wreck contained in sections 332, 333, 334 and 335 of the Act of 1894, and these provisions have been incorporated in a Schedule to the Bill.

Section 368 (3) provides that an Act passed in virtue of the power conferred by that section shall not have effect under the section unless it is reserved for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure thereon, or contains a suspending clause providing that the Act shall not come into operation until His Majesty's pleasure thereon has been publicly signified in British India. Section 368 does not contain a provision with reference to Acts passed under the power reproduced thereby similar to that in section 735, sub-section (2) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. It will, therefore, appear to be necessary to insert a clause making the repeal of the existing law take effect from the date on which His Majesty may signify his pleasure.

Part IV.—The clauses of the Bill in this Part are a consolidation of the Native Passenger Ships Act, 1887 (X of 1887), and the Pilgrim Ships Act, 1895 (XIV of 1895). Though possibly for some reasons it might be more convenient to keep these Acts separate, it is impossible to do so in a consolidation Bill, as a large number of the clauses of the two Acts are verbatim reproductions. The plan adopted has been to state the general provisions which apply to both classes of ships, and then to proceed to deal with the special rules which relate only to the particular class in question.

Clause 149 (2).—It has been found desirable to define "native passenger ship", and the reference in the provision is to clause 147 (2).

Clause 218.—In this clause and in the clause following, clause 219, regarding the marking of load-lines, the provisions of the existing law have been consolidated so as to bring together, subject to the exceptions provided by the Part, the provisions of the law relating both to British and foreign ships.

Clause 228.—This clause contains the saving for foreign ships contained in Act VII of 1880, and the Bill as drawn in this form makes it possible to summarise the provisions relating to overloading and improper loading and the marking of the deck of load-lines covering the cases of all classes of vessels.

Clause 238.—This clause contains the special provisions, in the application to foreign ships, of the provisions as to detention which are contained in section 85 of Act VII of 1880.

Clauses 240—245.—These clauses consolidate the law in regard to the provision of wireless telegraphy on board ships, which seem to fall appropriately under this part of the Bill.

Part VI.—This Part separates from the main body of the Act the provisions of the law in regard to shipping inquiries in Courts. In this respect it follows the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and the arrangement is probably convenient.

Clause 251.—The power to legislate to give power to hold an inquiry in the case of a master, mate or engineer holding a certificate under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, is restricted by section 478 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, to the cases mentioned in clause (b) of sub-clause (1) of that clause. It seems desirable that this limitation should appear on the face of the Act and accordingly it has been inserted in this clause.

Clause 258.—The power conferred by section 472 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, appears to supersede the power in section 80 of Act I of 1859 as regards Courts having Admiralty jurisdiction, and the reference in this clause is intended to draw attention to the existence of that power.

Clause 265. This clause gives power to Courts, in ports where there is no Colonial Court of the Admiralty, to remove a master.

Clause 280.—This clause brings together the officers or other persons who are by various sections of the Act consolidated and declared to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860). This consolidates the provisions as to the place of trial which are scattered over the various Acts.

Clause 281.—This consolidates, in as general a form as possible, the scattered provisions as to the depositions of witnesses who cannot be produced.

Section 112 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1859, does not confine the power to try cases thereunder to first class Magistrates, but under the existing law it is only Magistrates of the first class who can try cases summarily. In the Act of 1880 there is no special provision as to the class of Magistrate who may try offences except section 54, which provides that Chapter III should be taken as part of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1859, and the same remark applies to the Act of 1883. Section 38 of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, contains the provision which appears in the Bill, whilst the Native Passenger Ships Act, 1887, and the Pilgrim Ships Act, 1895, confine the power to try cases under those Acts to Magistrates of the first and second classes. The Indian Wireless Telegraphy (Shipping) Act, 1920, imposes no limitation. This clause, therefore, does not exactly reproduce the existing law, but it is suggested that, in a Bill of this kind, it would be difficult, and possibly is not necessary, to specify various offences as triable, respectively, by first and second class Magistrates.

Clause 284.—This places in the appropriate part of the Bill the provisions for enforcing the detention of a ship.

Clause 286.—This consolidates the various provisions scattered through the Act as to the levy of wages, fines, etc., by description of the ship.

Clause 288.—This gives general application to the provisions of two Acts regarding the application of fines imposed under the Act.

Clause 289 (1).—This clause follows the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, section 723, in that it gives to the shipping-master a power of entry on board British ships in all cases and not only, as in section 30 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1859, reproduced in clause 41 of the Bill, for the purpose of preventing a seaman from being shipped contrary to the provisions of that Act.

Validation.

20. No act done or proceedings taken under this Act shall be questioned on the ground merely of—

- (a) the existence of any vacancy in or any defect in the constitution of the Board or the Managing Committee; or
- (b) any person having ceased to be a Trustee; or
- (c) any omission, defect or irregularity, not affecting the merits of the case.

Classification of Hospital.

21. For all the purposes of the Indian Lunacy Act, IV of 1912, 1912, the Hospital shall be deemed to be an asylum established by the Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

A central asylum has for some years been established at Ranchi for the reception of European lunatics from Northern India. As it was intended to serve the needs of several provinces the whole initial cost of the buildings and equipment was met from Imperial funds, but the Provincial Governments concerned agreed to pay the cost of maintenance of all lunatics maintained in the hospital from their provinces. The recovery of these charges has now incidentally been placed upon a legal basis by the enactment of the Indian Lunacy (Amendment) Act, 1922, but the Government of Bihar and Orissa still anticipate considerable difficulties in financing the hospital which in a great measure has been instituted to meet the needs of other provinces.

With the separation of provincial from central finances which has followed the introduction of the Reforms, the Government of India are unable to finance the hospital to a greater extent than is permissible under the Devolution Rules. That is, the Central Government can meet the cost of maintenance of lunatics from places under the Central Government who are maintained in the hospital, and otherwise can only make advances to the Local Government from central revenues under Devolution Rule 25. In order to meet these difficulties, it is considered that it is desirable to make over the hospital to a Board of Trustees on which the various provinces interested in the maintenance of the hospital would be represented and which would be responsible for its proper upkeep under the control of the Government of Bihar and Orissa. The ordinary annual charges would be met by the Board by recoveries from the patients and Local Governments concerned, and the Board would be placed in funds until such recoveries become due by an advance from the central revenues, and the capital cost of original works would also be met by similar advances. Such advances would be repaid to the Central Government by equated instalments of principal and interest within such periods as would be fixed in each case. The object of the present Bill is to give effect to this scheme. It provides for the incorporation of the Board of Trustees, the powers of the Board and the restrictions upon the powers of the Board. The Government of Bengal is given greater representation on the Board than other Local Governments, because 58 per cent. of the inmates of the hospital come from that province. In addition arrangements are included for the control and supersession of the Board, in the event of its failure to perform its duties or of its repeated failure to perform its duties. Finally, the Bill provides for the dissolution of the Board at any time and the re-vesting of the funds and other property of the Board in the Government of Bihar and Orissa on behalf of His Majesty. An order to this effect can, however, only be made by the Government of Bihar and Orissa with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, and the intention is that such sanction shall not be granted unless suitable provision is made by the Local Government for safeguarding the interests of other Local Governments which have contributed to the maintenance of lunatics in the Asylum.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 27th February, 1922:—

No. 9 of 1922.

Regulate the employment of child labour in ports in British India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate the employment of child labour in ports in British India; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Ports (Amendment) Act, 1922.

Amendment of section 6, Act XV of 1908.

2. In section 6 of the Indian Ports Act, 1908,— XV of 1908.

(a) after sub-section (1), the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

“(1A) In addition to any rules which it is empowered to make under sub-section (1), the Local Government shall make rules prohibiting the employment at piers, jetties, landing-places, wharves, quays, docks, warehouses and sheds of children under the age of twelve years upon the handling of goods other than goods which can be transported by hand”; and

(b) in sub-section (2) after the word and figure “sub-section (1)” the words and figure “and sub-section (1A)” shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The general Conference of the International Labour Organisation of the League of Nations convened at Washington on the 29th October, 1919, adopted a Draft Convention concerning the minimum age for admission of children to industrial employment. Article 6 (c) of the Convention prohibits, inter alia, the employment of children under twelve years of age in the handling of goods in docks, quays and wharves but excluding transport by hand. On the recommendation of the Legislative Assembly and the Council of State, the Governor General in Council has ratified the whole of the Convention, and the Government of India are now under an obligation to make the provisions of Article 6 (c) effective. The object of the present Bill is to fulfil this obligation so far as the employment of children in the handling of goods in docks, quays and wharves is concerned.

Previous approval of Local Legislature to issue of notifications and rules.

8. No notification under section 3 or rule under section 7 shall be made by the Local Government of any Governor's Province, unless it has been laid in draft before the Legislative Council of the Province, and has been approved by a resolution of the Legislative Council, either with or without modification or addition, but upon such approval being given the notification or rule, as the case may be, may be issued in the form in which it has been so approved.

Protection for acts done under Act.

9. No suit or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against any person in respect of anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Indian Cotton Committee, which was appointed in 1917, brought to notice—

- (1) that the practice of adulterating long staple cotton with short staple was very prevalent at the gins and press-houses in certain long staple areas, the object being to secure for the mixture the higher prices offered for long staple;
- (2) that, owing to the consequent mixture of seed, there was considerable deterioration in the cultivation of many of the superior varieties of cotton;
- (3) that soft cotton waste was also used for the purpose of adulteration with "kapas" (the natural floss); and
- (4) that short staple cotton was frequently railed to a long staple area and re-booked thence, even without mixing, as long staple cotton.

2. As instances of (1) and (2), the Committee quoted the imports of short staple cotton into the Broach tract, the result of which has been that Broach cotton has largely lost its former reputation. Other superior varieties of cotton are threatened with the same fate. The practice described under (4) above is facilitated by the trade custom whereby cotton is bought and sold on the name and reputation of the area where it purports to have been grown ; i.e., on the name of the railway station from which the bales are last booked.

3. These malpractices are exercising so serious and dangerous an influence on the industry as a whole, that the necessity of taking Governmental action has become a matter of immediate importance. The Bill provides a remedy by enabling Local Governments to prevent inferior cotton or cotton-waste, as defined, from being imported, except under licence, into areas which it is desired to protect.

The principal provisions of the Bill are as follows :—

- (1) Local Governments are empowered, with the previous consent of the Provincial Legislature, to define the areas and to notify the stations which should be regarded as protected. Consignments of cotton are not allowed to any such notified station except from other notified stations in the same area.
- (2) It is necessary to make certain exceptions to the prohibition in favour, for instance, of mill-owners within the area requiring extraneous cotton and of purchasers of cotton waste for industrial purposes. Local Governments are accordingly empowered to frame rules for a licensing system and to appoint the authorities for the issue of licences.
- (3) Station masters or other railway servants responsible for the delivery of goods or parcels are prohibited under penalties from delivering cotton improperly consigned to their stations.

MAGISTERIAL ENQUIRY INTO THE ALLEGED MISCONDUCT OF THE MILITARY POLICE AT THE RAILWAY STATION, CHITTAGONG, OCTOBER 1921.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 11TH APRIL 1922.

RESOLUTION—No. 7171P.

READ—

- The report of the magisterial enquiry into the alleged misconduct of the Military Police at the railway station, Chittagong, on the night of the 20th October 1921.

On the night of the 20th October 1921, a party of the military police on duty outside the entrance hall of the Chittagong railway station was stoned and mobbed by a crowd which had gathered there to see certain prisoners who were being conveyed to Calcutta that night. It was necessary for the military police to push the crowd back and to clear the space round the entrance to the railway station, and in the process minor injuries were received by various members of the crowd. As the incident was grossly misrepresented in some quarters, Government thought it advisable that an enquiry should be held, and the report of Rai Suresh Chandra Singh Bahadur, Deputy Magistrate, was received by Government on the 2nd December 1921. Criminal cases were pending at that time against certain persons and the publication of the report might have prejudiced this case; these proceedings have now ended in conviction, and the magistrate's report is published for general information.

The Governor in Council agrees with the conclusions of the magistrate, and considers that there was no justification for the attempt made in certain quarters to describe this incident as a "Gurkha outrage."

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that copies be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division and the Inspector-General of Police, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. DONALD,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT.

Mr. L. B. Burrows, Additional District Magistrate, originally received orders, through the Divisional Commissioner, on the 8th November 1921 to hold a formal enquiry into the alleged misconduct of the military police at the railway station, Chittagong, on the night of the 20th October. The Additional Magistrate fixed the 21st November as the opening day of his enquiry, because the European Inspector of Police (witness No. 1) had meanwhile been transferred to Kharagpore, but this date was altered to the 15th November on the receipt of orders from Government, asking for a report by the 21st, if possible. Notices were issued for both dates, to the principal executive officers, recognised public bodies and associations, and to the public generally, calling on all persons, who could throw light on the matter under enquiry, to appear and give evidence. Meanwhile as soon as he received the orders referred to above, the Additional Magistrate informed the higher authorities that he had been present at the railway station on the night of the 20th October and that he would probably be required as a witness. Later on, and before any orders had been received on the Additional Magistrate's representation, the Secretary of the Bar Association wrote pointing out that the purpose of the enquiry would be better served if it were conducted by some other officer. As a result, I received orders from Government to conduct the enquiry and commenced it on the 15th November.

2. At the outset, I was informed that the enquiry would be boycotted by the public, but it was, as a matter of fact, attended throughout by several pleaders, muktears and other members of the general public, several of whom took notes of the proceedings and also cross-examined some of the witnesses. The local authorities were represented by a senior vakil, who examined 25 witnesses on behalf of those authorities. All these witnesses were tendered for cross-examination, but advantage was not taken of this except in the case of witnesses Nos. 20, 21, 24, 25 and 27. In addition 16 members of the public came forward to give evidence, but only seven of them were cross-examined because the remaining nine did not appear on the day following their examination-in-chief though requested to do so.

3. Before proceeding to consider all this evidence, it may be as well to glance briefly at the general conditions and circumstances under which the incident of the 20th October occurred. Since the month of April last, Chittagong has been the centre of great activity on the part of the non-co-operators in connection with the Chandpur coolie affair, the Assam-Bengal Railway strike, the Khilafat and allied agitations, and the campaign against foreign cloth. Constant public speeches by various leaders of the party have excited the public mind unduly and various incidents have occurred not calculated to allay such excitement. Among other things, it was necessary to take proceedings against several local leaders under section 108, Cr. P. C., while Mr. J. M. Sen Gupta, the recognised leader among local leaders and the President of the Railway Employees' Union, had to be prosecuted along with eighteen other persons for organising an illegal procession and continuing as a member of an unlawful assembly after the latter had been ordered to disperse by the District Magistrate in person. The trial aroused considerable public interest and was concluded before the Additional District Magistrate on the 20th October, when all the accused persons were sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment under section 151, I.P.C. In accordance with the general orders on the subject, arrangements were made to transfer these political prisoners to the Alipore Central Jail the same night. News of this intended transfer was evidently circulated throughout the town and its neighbourhood, and a crowd commenced to assemble at about 4 P.M. outside the jail gate. Various acts of rowdyism, detailed in the evidence of witnesses Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 23, 25, and 27, were committed by the crowd, including the burning of foreign cloth, the stripping of passers-by of foreign apparel, the shouting of political cries, and the abuse of Police Officers. Reinforcements had to be summoned from the Buxirhat beat, but the crowd continued to swell in numbers until it extended all the way from the jail gate to the railway station—a distance of about three quarters of a mile. The police force deputed to escort the prisoners to the station, and consisting of three Sub-Inspectors, two Assistant Sub-Inspectors and a sufficiently large number of constables under Sergeant Penny, arrived at the jail at about 7 P.M. As stated by the officers of the escort party (witnesses Nos. 2, 3, 23, 25 and 27) and corroborated by non-official witness No. 28, considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the carriages to convey the prisoners inside the jail compound. It is in evidence that Sub-Inspector Sachindra Kumar Bhaumik (witness No. 27) was stoned at this point. The crowd surrounded the carriages as the prisoners were taken out of the jail premises by the escort party. Torches were improvised out of split bamboos taken from the jail fencing. A band and Sankirtan parties joined the procession and added to the uproar. There was also a display of fire-works, accompanied by the frequent firing of bombs. All shades of political opinion were represented in the procession, but everyone now disowns responsibility for its elaborate organisation, because it was in fact illegal, being in direct contravention of the general prohibition of such processions by the Superintendent of Police under section 30(2) of Act V of 1861.

4. It has, however, been claimed that the procession, whatever its legality may have been, moved in a quiet and orderly fashion without obstruction to or annoyance of persons lawfully employed. It is, nevertheless, admitted that picketting and burning of foreign cloth took place. Further, the evidence shows that the road was obstructed at various points and that the police officers had to descend from their carriages to clear a path through the surrounding crowd. Members of the crowd are said to have abused and spat at these police officers, and Sub-Inspector Sachindra Kumar Bhaumik (witness No. 27) was hit on the head by a bamboo thrown near the District Board Office. Assistant Sub-Inspector Birendra Kumar Baruri (witness No. 2) and Head-Constable Samsul Huda (witness No. 3) were hit on the ears by brick-bats, and the whole escort party was treated to a more or less continuous shower of various missiles. Both official and non-official evidence (witnesses Nos. 7, 9, 11, 29 and 32) proves the holding up of Abdul Jubbar Sadagar's carriage and the snatching and tearing up of his chaddar and shirt. Babu Naba Kumar Banerjee (witness No. 7), a clerk in the office of the Deputy Traffic Superintendent, Chittagong, had his foreign coat torn and stripped off. As has been stated, the conditions were ripe for such rowdyism on the part of the followers of and sympathisers with the incarcerated leader, Mr. Sen Gupta, and the evidence shows that they did actually indulge in such excesses with the idea of demonstrating their sympathies in practical form. Apprehending further developments of such expressions of excitement and ill-feeling, the officer-in-charge of Kotwali police-station (witness No. 11) telephoned to the Superintendent of Police (witness No. 13) at the Chittagong Club, informing him of what was taking place. Mr. Cornish, the Superintendent of Police, consulted the District Magistrate (witness No. 12), and it was decided that the escort should be strengthened to prevent more serious trouble at the railway station. The District Magistrate is said to have suggested that the escort might be strengthened with the ordinary or armed police, but it was ascertained that there were only five or six men available in the lines at this time, the remainder of the force having already been deputed to maintain order outside the jail and along the road leading to the railway station. The District Magistrate thereupon requested Captain Wood (witness No. 15), the Commanding Officer of E. F. Rifles, who was also at the Club, to send a force of forty of his men under a native officer to the railway station to reinforce the Police. Mr. Cornish says in evidence that both he and Captain Wood personally instructed the Indian Officer to accompany the force of Military Police. The fact that the Commanding Officer did not accompany the force supports the conclusion that it was not the intention of the Civil authorities to use the Military Police for the immediate purpose of dispersing the crowd. It appears from the evidence of Captain Wood that the order about sending a force of forty sepoy under an Indian Officer was somehow distorted over the telephone, with the result that the whole detachment of ninety-two men, under two Indian Officers, marched down to the railway station. The detachment was accompanied by Inspector Malins of the Bengal Police (witness No. 1) and was timed to arrive at the station about the same time as the escort party with the prisoners. It is clear that the Military Police was intended primarily to assist the ordinary police in maintaining order and preserving the public peace, and there can be no doubt that this step was quite justified in the circumstances reported and actually existing. After allowing reasonable time for the Military Police to reach the railway station, the District Magistrate in company with Mr. Burrows, the Additional District Magistrate, and Mr. Cornish, the Superintendent of Police, left the Club for his bungalow by car, intending to ring up the station and ascertain how affairs were proceeding. But when they pulled up the car at the foot of the hill on which the District Magistrate's bungalow stands, they heard loud shouting from the direction of the railway station. Thinking that a serious riot might be in progress, the District Magistrate, accompanied by the Additional Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police, drove at once in the same car to the railway station. By the time the District Magistrate and party arrived there, everything was found to be quiet and peaceful in and around the railway station and a large crowd was seen dispersing quietly. The train with the prisoners left the station shortly after their arrival, and having stayed on the platform for another five minutes or so, the District Magistrate and other officials returned home.

5. Coming now to the evidence of the occurrence under enquiry, it will be seen from the evidence of Inspector Malins (witness No. 1) and other witnesses, that the disorderly and vast crowd moving in procession with the prisoners was sighted on the main road near the eastern approach to the railway station, when the detachment of the Gurkha Military Police entered the station compound by the western approach from the main road on the Pahartali side. Both the approach roads meet under the portico of the railway station, in front of the main entrance to the platform. It is also admitted, on all hands, that a very large crowd had gathered and spread over every inch of available space within the station area before the procession with the prisoners arrived. The railway platform was crowded, and the portico with the approaches were all packed. Babu Aparna Charan Kanango (non-official witness No. 28) says that he tried to keep the crowd under the portico in check sometime before the procession with the prisoners had entered the station area by the eastern approach, but his own evidence suggests the inference that the crowd reassembled under the portico as quickly as he shoved them back. The evidence shows that thousands of men had already gathered and that there was a general rush and scramble for places. The Military Police marched up to the western approach, moving the crowd before them, and halted under the portico, while Inspector Malins (witness No. 1) and Jamadar Mendaram (witness No. 16) entered the railway platform to make the necessary dispositions. Part of the detachment then went on to the station platform, while the other part remained outside under the portico. As the escort party with the prisoners came up the eastern approach to the portico, the crowd already assembled in the space between was inevitably driven towards the portico and commenced to encroach upon the space occupied by the detachment. The Gurkhas were thus pressed from all sides and found it difficult to hold their own. At this stage, some persons in the crowd commenced throwing stones, etc., at the Gurkhas. One Kalicharan rifleman (witness No. 19) was hit on the chest, while Nubinram rifleman (witness No. 18) was injured on the knee. Rifleman Paniram (witness No. 17) says that one of the crowd tried to wrest away his rifle by force. The weapon was recovered by Paniram, after a scuffle, with the assistance of Havildar Lowaram (witness No. 20). The shower of stones and brickbats, coupled with the pressure of the crowd from all directions, was apparently too much for the patience and forbearance of the comparatively small band of military police, charged with the duty of maintaining order and preserving peace; apart from their orders in this connection, their natural instincts of self-preservation and self-defence asserted themselves and caused them to shove back the hostile crowd some 40 or 50 yards from the portico towards the east. The suggestion is that the story about pressure from the crowd: accompanied by the throwing of stones, is an after thought,—but it is in evidence that both Jamadar Mindaram (witness No. 16) and Inspector Malins (witness No. 1) were told about these incidents as soon as the Gurkhas reformed ranks on being recalled. The Jamadar adds that stones continued to be thrown after the Gurkhas had fallen back and that he was himself hit then. Further, Sub-Inspector Sachindra Kumar Bhaumik (witness No. 27) confirms this, while the Superintendent of Police (witness No. 13) corroborates Inspector Malins as to the immediate reporting of the stone-throwing. Captain Wood (witness No. 15) says also that one of his officers reported everything to him the following morning. Among the non-official witnesses, the testimony of Babu Ranjan Lal Sen, B.L. (witness No. 38), a pleader of the local bar, supports that of the official witnesses. He says that there was a great rush towards the portico as the procession approached it by the eastern passage and that this was followed by a counter-rush on the part of the Gurkhas. He was not in a position to see whether or not a shower of stones and brick-bats preceded the Gurkha-rush. It has been stated by most of the non-official witnesses that a stampede followed, and huddled as the crowd was, it is not difficult to picture how many of them must have knocked one another over, trodden on each other and being knocked against railing and other obstacles all around in the general confusion and rush to escape. Of the 16 non-official witnesses, 5 have shown me injuries on various parts of their bodies, said to have been received in the course of the alleged "Gurkha outrage". I have not heard any medical evidence as to the probable cause of their injuries, but it is quite possible that some of them were caused in the manner mentioned above. At the same time it is also quite likely that some of the injuries were caused by the butt-ends of rifles, used to press back the turbulent and aggressively encroaching crowd, but the point is that none of the injuries were serious nor more severe than the necessities of the situation demanded, nor was any complaint made about them to the authorities at the station or subsequently. It is a well-known principle of law that a man has the right to inflict in self-defence any injury not greater than that which he expects to be inflicted on himself if he offers no defence, and the conclusion I have arrived at in this particular instance is that, whatever injuries the Gurkhas may have been responsible for, these were not excessive in a situation where kid-glove methods might have led to far more serious trouble. The whole incident did not occupy more than a few minutes, and it occurred suddenly and under grave provocation to a body of men who were trying to carry out the duties allotted to them. After careful consideration of the whole evidence given before me, I have come to the following conclusions:—

- (1) That the use of the Gurkha Military Police in the circumstance was quite justified; this is, in fact, admitted in the evidence of Babu Annada Charan Dutta, M.A., B.L., M.L.C. (witness No. 26).
- (2) That their action in driving back the disorderly crowd from the immediate precincts of the railway station was within their prescribed duty of preserving order.
- (3) That the said action was not a deliberate and unprovoked attack on inoffensive persons, but was taken on the spur of the moment under grave provocation from an aggressive crowd, and was justified by the necessities of the situation.
- (4) That any injuries that may have been caused did not exceed their right of private defence, and were necessary in order to preserve the public peace and to prevent possible further trouble.
- (5) That the District Magistrate, Superintendent of Police and Additional Magistrate were not present at or near the spot when the incident occurred.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Special Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1921-22.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1919-20, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage to the total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on, has, in the five years ending 1919-20, averaged (a) 42·3 and 18·0 per cent., respectively.)

Explanatory.—This special forecast deals with the final estimates of acreage and yield of the wheat crop of this Presidency and is published as a special case under Government orders. The usual final forecast will be published in May as in previous years.

Character of the season.—Since the issue of the second forecast in the end of February last, the crop is reported to have further deteriorated in the districts of Murshidabad, Dinajpur, Pabna, Mymensingh and Faridpur as a consequence of the prolonged drought. The slight rain that fell in some places in the end of January and beginning of February was too late and inadequate to improve the situation. On the whole, the season may be regarded as an unfavourable one for the crop.

Area sown.—According to the estimates of the District Officers, the total area under wheat amounts to 124,100 acres against 116,900 acres reported both in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the District Officers' estimates, the provincial outturn works out at 67 per cent. of the normal this year, against 84 and 86 per cent. respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Taking the normal yield to be $8\frac{1}{2}$ maunds per acre, the gross yield of the crop for the province is estimated at about 26,000 tons against 30,700 and 31,400 tons respectively in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

The following is published for general information.

H. E. SPRY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

No. 116A., dated Delhi, the 9th February 1922.

Order—By the Government of India, Finance Department.

With the previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue the following general orders under rule 16 of the devolution rules:—

SECTION I.—Short title and date of effect

1. These orders may be called the Treasury Orders, and they shall come into force with effect from the 1st March 1922.

SECTION II.—Definitions.

2. In these orders:—

- (a) The Bank means the Imperial Bank of India or any branch of the Imperial Bank of India.
- (b) Collector means the chief officer in charge of the revenue administration of a district.
- (c) Principal Auditor is used in the sense in which it is defined in the rules made under section 96-D of the Government of India Act.
- (d) Treasury includes a sub-treasury.
- (e) Treasury Officer means the officer in immediate executive charge of a treasury.

SECTION III.—Location of moneys standing in the public account.

3. Moneys standing in the public account must be either retained in a treasury or deposited in the Bank. The conditions under which they are deposited in the Bank are governed by the terms of the agreement of the Secretary of State in Council with the Bank.

SECTION IV.—General system of treasury control.

4. Unless in any case the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Auditor-General, otherwise direct, there shall be in every district a treasury under the charge of a treasury officer. If moneys standing in the public account are, in any district, not deposited in the Bank, the treasury of that district shall be divided into two departments: that of the accounts, under the charge of an accountant, and that of the cash, under the charge of a treasurer.

5. In any treasury in which a Government servant of the Indian Audit Department has not been appointed, as such, to be treasury officer, the following orders will apply:—

- (a) The treasury shall be in the general charge of the Collector, who may entrust the immediate executive control to a treasury officer subordinate to him but may not divest himself of administrative control. He shall be responsible for the proper observance of these orders and for the punctual submission of all returns required from the treasury by the Governor-General in Council.
- (b) The duty of verifying and certifying the monthly cash balance, if any, in the treasury, and of submitting monthly accounts in such form or forms and after such verification as the Auditor-General may prescribe, shall be undertaken by the Collector or by such other officer as the Governor in Council may specify. It must be performed by the Collector in person at least once in every period of six months.
- (c) A change of incumbent of the office of Collector shall at once be reported to the principal auditor concerned by the in-coming Collector, who shall certify to the principal auditor the amount of the cash balance, if any, which he has taken over. The certificate shall be submitted in such form and after such verification as the Auditor-General may prescribe.

6. In any treasury in which a Government servant of the Indian Audit Department has been appointed, as such, to be treasury officer, the duties of the Collector in relation to the custody of moneys in the treasury shall be such as the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Governor-General in Council, may specify.

SECTION V.—Payment of Government moneys into the public account.

7. Except as provided in order 8, all moneys received by Government servants in their official capacity, other than moneys withdrawn from the public account under the provisions of section VIII below, shall without undue delay be paid in full into a treasury or into the Bank and shall be included in the general balances of Government. Departmental receipts shall not be appropriated to meet departmental expenditure except with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

8. In certain exceptional cases, Government servants may be permitted to open a separate account with a bank and to pay into it moneys received by them in their official capacity. The conditions on which such permission may be given are detailed in Appendix A.

9. (a) The procedure to be adopted by Government servants in paying into treasuries moneys derived from sources of provincial revenue and by treasuries in receiving such moneys and granting receipts for them shall be such as may be specified by the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Auditor-General.

(b) The procedure to be adopted by Government servants in paying into treasuries moneys not derived from sources of provincial revenue and by treasuries in receiving such moneys and granting receipts for them shall be such as may be specified by the Governor-General in Council.

(c) The procedure to be adopted by Government servants in paying moneys into the Bank and by the Bank in receiving such moneys and granting receipts for them shall be such as may be specified by the Governor-General in Council.

SECTION VI.—Custody of moneys standing in the public account.

10. (a) The procedure for the safe custody of moneys in a treasury shall be such as the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Governor-General in Council, may specify.

SECTION VII.—Transfer of moneys standing in the public account.

11. The transfer of Government moneys from one treasury to another, and between the currency chest balance and treasury balance of a treasury and between a treasury and the Bank shall be governed by such instructions as the Controller of the Currency may issue in this behalf. It shall not be subject to the orders in section VIII below.

SECTION VIII.—Withdrawal of moneys from the public account.

12. Definition.—In this section withdrawal means the withdrawal of funds from the public account for expenditure on provincial subjects. The procedure to be adopted by Government servants in withdrawing funds from the public account for expenditure on central subjects shall be such as may be specified by the Governor-General in Council.

13. General rule.—Unless in any case the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Auditor-General, otherwise direct, moneys may not be withdrawn from the public account without the written permission of the treasury officer or of a Government servant of the Indian Audit Department authorised in this behalf by the Auditor-General.

14. Power of a principal auditor.—A principal auditor may, subject to the general control of the Auditor-General, permit withdrawal for any purpose.

15. Instructions to treasury officers.—(a) A treasury officer may permit withdrawal for the following purposes :—

- (i) To pay sums due by Government to the drawing officer.
- (ii) To place the drawing officer in funds to meet claims likely to be presented against Government in the immediate future by
 - (1) other Government servants or
 - (2) private parties.
- (iii) To enable the drawing officer to supply funds to another Government servant from which to meet similar claims.
- (iv) To pay direct from the treasury sums due by Government to a private party.

(b) Unless in any case it be otherwise expressly ordered by a principal auditor, a treasury officer shall not permit withdrawal for any purpose not specified in clause (a) of this order.

16. Except as provided in orders 23 and 24 below, a treasury officer shall not permit withdrawal for any purpose unless the claim for withdrawal is presented by such person and in such form, and has been satisfactorily submitted by the treasury officer to such checks, as the Governor in Council, with the concurrence of the Auditor-General, may specify.

17. A treasury officer shall not honour a claim which he considers to be disputable. He shall require the claimant to refer it to the principal auditor responsible for the audit of the payment.

18. Except under the general or special orders of the Governor in Council, a payment shall be made in the district in which the claim arises.

19. The leave salary of a gazetted Government servant, who draws his leave-salary in India, may be paid in any district in India. The leave-salary of a non-gazetted Government servant may be paid in that district only in which his pay could be drawn if he were on duty.

20. Pensions payable in India may be paid in any district in India.

21. No withdrawal shall be permitted in order to meet the pay, leave-salary or allowances of a gazetted Government servant, or a reward or honorarium payable to a gazetted Government servant, or any pension payable from general revenues, until an audit officer has intimated the rate at which payment should be made.

22. No withdrawal shall be permitted in order to meet the first of any series of payments in a district of pay or allowances to a Government servant, other than a person newly appointed to Government service, unless the claim be supported by a last-pay certificate in such form as may be prescribed by the Auditor-General.

23. In case of urgent necessity, a Collector may require a treasury officer to make a payment in contravention of order 16, 17, 18, 19, 21 or 22 above; provided that the Collector records an order in writing and immediately sends a copy of the order, together with an explanation of the circumstances which rendered it necessary, to the principal auditor who will audit the payment. The treasury officer also shall intimate the payment to the principal auditor.

24. A treasury officer may correct an arithmetical inaccuracy or an obvious mistake in any bill presented to him for payment, provided that he intimates to the drawing officer the correction which he makes.

25. Instructions to drawing officers.—A Government servant who is authorised to withdraw moneys by means of cheques shall notify to the treasury officer or to the local officials of the Bank, as the case may be, the numbers of the cheque books which from time to time he proposes to use and of the cheques which they contain.

26. When a Government servant who is authorised to draw or counter-sign cheques or bill payable at a treasury or the Bank makes over charge of his office to another, he must send a specimen of the relieving Government servant's signature to the treasury officer or the local officials of the Bank, as the case may be.

SECTION IX.—Responsibility for moneys withdrawn.

27. (a) A Government servant supplied with funds for expenditure shall be responsible for such funds until an account of them has been rendered to the satisfaction of the principal auditor concerned. In cases in which the acquittances of the actual payees are not sent for audit the Government servant supplied with funds shall be held personally responsible for seeing that payments are made to the persons entitled to receive them.

(b) If any doubt arises as to the identity of the Government servant by whom an account of such funds shall be rendered, it shall be decided by the Governor in Council.

28. A treasury officer receiving an intimation from an audit officer that moneys have been incorrectly withdrawn and that a certain sum should be recovered from a drawing officer must effect the recovery without delay and without regard to any correspondence undertaken or contemplated with reference to the retrenchment order; and the drawing officer must without delay repay the sum by such method as the audit officer may prescribe.

SECTION X.—General Exception.

29. A Governor in Council may not, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, so exercise any power conferred upon him by these orders as to impose upon the Bank in connection with Government business any responsibility which the Bank is not liable to undertake at the time when these orders come into force.

APPENDIX A.

The following are the rules which govern the opening by a Government servant of a separate account with a bank for the deposit of moneys received by him in his official capacity :—

(I) A Governor or a Lieutenant-Governor may permit his Private or Military Secretary to open an account for the deposit of funds under the personal control of the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor.

(II) A Secretary to a Government may open an account in his own name, provided that he records a written order stating the nature of the moneys to be kept in the account and sends a copy of that order to the principal Auditor concerned.

(III) Accounts may be opened without restriction by the following classes of Government servant :—

• An Administrator-General.

• An Official Trustee, Assignee or Receiver.

• A Sheriff.

• The Solicitors to the Government of India and of Madras.

• An Accountant-General of a High Court or the Account Officer of a High Court on the Original Side.

(IV) Except as provided in rules (I) to (III), no Government servant may open an account with a bank for the deposit of moneys received in his official capacity without the previous sanction of a principal Auditor. The following conditions govern the grant of such sanction :—

(a) Permission may be given in all cases in which the moneys, although received by a Government servant in his official capacity, do not form part of general revenues.

(b) Permission may not be given in the following cases :—

(i) Where the moneys in question have been withdrawn from the public account, or are received in order to be paid into the public account, either as revenue or as a deposit.

(ii) Where the moneys form part of a balance of an account submitted for audit to the Indian Audit Department, or the receipts or outgoings represent transactions of which the Government servant concerned is bound to submit an account to the Indian Audit Department.

(iii) Where the moneys must, under any law or any order of Government or a Court of Justice, be deposited with, or held in trust by, any Government servant in his official capacity.

(iv) Where the moneys have been advanced to a Government servant for contingent expenditure or to a civil officer for public works expenditure.

(c) In cases not covered by clauses (a) and (b) of this rule, permission should not be given except upon some definite ground of convenience to the public service. The personal convenience of the Government servant concerned does not constitute such a ground.

(V) All accounts opened under these rules must be opened with a branch of the Imperial Bank of India, where such a branch is available. Where no such branch exists an account may be opened with any other bank; provided that the Government servant opening it remains personally responsible for the moneys as though they were in his personal custody.

14. (1) In addition and without prejudice to any powers which a Court may possess to order the exclusion of the public from any proceedings if, in the course of proceedings before a Court against any person for an offence under this Act or the proceedings on appeal, or in the course of the trial of a person under this Act, application is made by the prosecution, on the ground that the publication of any evidence to be given or of any statement to be made in the course of the proceedings would be prejudicial to the national safety, that all or any portion of the public shall be excluded during any part of the hearing, the Court may make an order to that effect, but the passing of sentence shall in any case take place in public.

Section 8(4) of 10 & 11 Geo. V, c. 75.

Offences by companies, etc.

15. Where the person guilty of an offence under this Act is a company or corporation, every director and officer of the company or corporation shall be guilty of the like offence, unless he proves that the act or omission constituting the offence took place without his knowledge or consent.

Section 8(5) of 10 & 11 Geo. V, c. 75.

Repeals.

16. The Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889, and the Indian Official Secrets (Amendment) Act, 1904, are hereby repealed.

XV of 1889. V of 1904.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The position in regard to the protection of official secrets in India is briefly as follows. The provisions of the law which are now in force are :—

- (a) An act of the Legislature in India—the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889, as amended by the Indian Official Secrets (Amendment) Act, 1904 ; and
- (b) A Statute of Parliament,—the Official Secrets Act, 1911 (1 & 2 George V, c. 28).

The provisions of the British Statute have, as a result of experience gained during the War, been considerably modified by the enactment of the Official Secrets Act, 1920, but the latter Statute does not apply to British India.

2. It has for some time past been recognised that it is unsatisfactory to have two separate laws in force simultaneously in India. Further, although the British Act of 1911 is in force in India, difficulties arise in applying it because of the use in it of English common law terms and so on. For these reasons it is desirable that there should be a single consolidated Act applicable to Indian conditions, and the desirability of this has been emphasised by the passing of the British Act of 1920 which has considerably amended the Act of 1911, but is not applicable to India.

3. The provisions of the British Act of 1911 are more effective, particularly in the matter of the protection of military secrets than the Indian enactments, and they have been further strengthened by the enactment of the amending Statute of 1920, which is based on experience gained during the War. It is considered desirable, therefore, that the law in India should be assimilated to that in force in the United Kingdom, and the object of this Bill is to consolidate the provisions of the British Acts of 1911 and 1920 and to enact them in a form suitable for India.

4. As this Bill is a purely consolidating measure, it is not necessary to deal with the clauses in detail; but it may be mentioned that it is proposed to omit provisions on the lines of sections 4 and 5 of the Act of 1920, as it is considered that the matters dealt with in these sections are sufficiently covered by the provisions of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

5. If this Bill is passed it will not be necessary to retain the Indian Acts, and provision is therefore made in clause 15 for their repeal.

27B. The references to a criminal tribe in sections 4, 5, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 27A, shall be deemed to be references to a criminal tribe or any part thereof."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In December 1919 a conference was held at Delhi, attended by representatives of the Provinces of British India and of Indian States, to consider the future administration of the Criminal Tribes Act, 1911 (III of 1911). The provisions of the Act were examined in detail and a number of amendments were recommended by the conference. These recommendations were examined by the Government of India, and the amendments proposed by them were referred to local Governments for opinion. They have now been re-examined by the Government of India in the light of the opinions of the local Governments, and the final conclusions are embodied in the draft Bill.

2. A number of the amendments are merely formal or are designed to remove minor defects which experience of the working of the Act has brought to light. It is not necessary to explain these in detail. The changes of substance which it is proposed to include are dealt with individually in the following paragraphs.

3. Clause 2 of the Bill.—The object of this clause is to extend the application of the Act to the Presidency-towns and to Rangoon. The necessity for this amendment was urged by the Government of Bengal as far back as 1914, when they complained that the Act provided no machinery for the registration of the criminal tribes residing in a Presidency-town, and the proposal is strongly supported by the other local Governments concerned.

4. Clause 5 of the Bill.—Under section 13 of the Act, as it stands at present, the orders of the local Government are required before a criminal tribe or part thereof which has been restricted to or settled in a specified area by a notification under section 11 can be moved to another area. It has been represented that this causes inconvenience, both from the point of view of those who have to administer the Act, and from the point of view of the members of the criminal tribes themselves, who not infrequently desire to move with the object of visiting relatives or of bettering their chances of employment. It has been suggested that the local authorities should be authorised to transfer criminal tribes or members thereof within the same district, and clause 5 (read with the new section 27B which it is proposed to insert by clause 11 of the Bill) is intended to give effect to this suggestion.

5. Clause 6 of the Bill.—The object of this clause is to provide for the transfer of a criminal tribe from one province to another. Cases in which it is desirable that there should be such power are—

(a) cases where a local Government finds it necessary to notify a tribe which has wandered into its jurisdiction from the province to which it really belongs; and

(b) cases where employment is found for a criminal tribe in a province other than that in which it has been notified. The clause provides that this power shall not be exercised save with the consent of the local Government of the province to which the tribe is to be transferred.

6. Clause 7 of the Bill.—The main object of this clause is to provide that the provisions of the Act shall apply to a tribe which has been transferred to another province in exercise of the power which it proposed to confer by clause 6.

7. Clause 9(a) of the Bill.—This clause is intended to effect a delegation of power similar to that provided for in clause 5. Great inconvenience is caused by the necessity of referring to the local Government any case in which it is proposed to take action under section 18 of the Act. Provision is made for the delegation of powers under that section to the local authorities.

8. Clause 10 of the Bill.—The object of this clause is to authorise the arrest without a warrant of members of criminal tribes who commit offences punishable under section 22(2) of the Act. A recommendation to this effect was made by the conference, and the suggestion has been accepted by the local Governments.

9. Clause 11 of the Bill.—The intention of this clause is to add two new sections to the Act as 27A and 27B. The proposed new section 27B is formal, and provides that the term "criminal tribe" shall include any part of such tribe. The object of the proposed new section 27A is to provide for the transfer of criminal tribes from British India to Indian States. It is considered desirable, for the reasons for which it is proposed that provision should be made for transfer from one province to another, that there should also be provision for transfer from British India to Indian States and vice-versa. The Act, being an enactment of the Indian Legislature, can of course provide only for transfer from British India. It will be observed that the proposed new section is permissive in form and that it allows transfer only to States in which the local Government is satisfied that adequate provision has been made for the restriction or settlement of criminal tribes.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION.

Post Graduate Research Scholarships to be awarded in 1922.

Two Post Graduate Scholarships will be awarded for the encouragement of original research to candidates who have high and special qualifications and appear to be likely to conduct original research with success. The value of each scholarship is Rs. 100 a month, and each is tenable for a maximum period of three years.

2. Ordinarily one scholarship will be awarded annually to a student who proposes to carry on original research in scientific subjects, including such branches as natural and physical science, chemistry, mathematical science, etc., and another scholarship will similarly be awarded for research in literary subjects, including such branches as languages, comparative philology, palæography, epigraphy, philosophy, history, archæology, anthropology, etc. No application for a research scholarship will be considered unless a candidate submits certificates showing that he has the capacity for undertaking the research proposed and a programme of work indicating a definite course of enquiry.

3. Election will be made in the first instance for one year only, with effect from 1st July 1922, but a scholarship may be renewed from year to year, up to the limit of three years, provided the scholar has throughout the year vigorously prosecuted original research in the subject selected by him.

4. Each candidate for a scholarship should submit his application, through the head of the institution in which he last studied, to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, and must produce evidence of having passed the M.A. or M.Sc. examination from a college or other institution in Bengal or of having obtained some other equivalent or higher degree, such as Doctor in Science or Master in Engineering in 1919 or 1920 or 1921. He must state as definitely as possible the subject or part of a subject in which he intends, if elected to a scholarship, to carry on his original investigation. He must also state the name of the institution in which he proposes to work with evidence that the authorities of the institution are able and willing to provide facilities for him, or if no institution is mentioned, the circumstances or conditions under which he proposes to work should be stated.

5. Applications for this year's scholarships should be submitted on or before the 31st May 1922 in prescribed forms which are obtainable from the Personal Assistant to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta.

Classes are held twice a week from 6 to 7 P.M.

(c) Shorthand (Theory).—Pitman's Shorthand is the system taught. Students having a sufficient knowledge of English are admitted at the beginning of the session in July. Students are also admitted in December, provided they have already a sufficient knowledge of Shorthand to enable them to appreciate the lectures in the session, December to April.

The minimum speed required to pass the examination is 80 words per minute. The class is held daily from 5 P.M.

The fee for the session, July to November, is Rs. 12, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 3 each. The fee for the session, December to April, is Rs. 16, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 4 each.

(d) Shorthand (Speed).—Students having a speed of 60 words per minute are admitted in July, and the class practice is from 60 to 120 words per minute.

Students having a minimum speed of 80 words per minute are admitted in December, and the class practice is from 80 to 140 words per minute.

In the examination the tests are at four grades of speed, 80, 100, 120, 140 words per minute, and at higher speeds if candidates can write more rapidly. Classes are held daily from 6 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

(e) Typewriting.—Beginners are admitted in July. Students having a minimum speed of 20 words per minute are admitted in December. The minimum speed required to pass the examination at the end of April is 35 words per minute. Certificates are issued for 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60 words per minute. For each of the speed tests there is a corresponding accuracy test in tabulating. Classes are held at 5, 6 and 7 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

Combination of the above subjects and reduction of fee.—If a student simultaneously takes up two or three of the subjects (a) to (e), a reduction of Re. 1 per instalment of each of the fees payable by him will be granted: for example, if a student is a member of both the Shorthand and the Elementary Book-keeping classes, he will have to pay instalments of Rs. 2 for each subject instead of Rs. 3 for the session, July to December.

(f), (g), (h), (i) and (j).—Classes are formed in these subjects if a sufficient number of candidates apply for admission. The fee for each subject is Rs. 3 for each series of ten lectures.

(k) Accountancy and Auditing.—There are two courses of year each for ordinary students, or one year for those who are already practising as Auditors, to prepare candidates for the Government examination of Diploma in Accountancy, which qualifies them to obtain the Government license to practise as Auditors. Students of this class have to attend Book-keeping and Mercantile Law classes, for which no extra fee has to be paid. The fee is Rs. 144, payable in advance in four half-yearly instalments of Rs. 36 each in the case of ordinary students and Rs. 72 in two half-yearly instalments of Rs. 36 each in the case of those who are practising as Auditors and hold a provisional license granted by Government.

2. Examinations.—The examination in subjects (a) to (j) is held at the end of April, at the end of the year's course, under the control of the Government Commercial Institute Board, and successful candidates receive certificates signed by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, and countersigned by the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The examination fee for each subject is Rs. 5.

3. Attendance.—Strict regularity and punctuality of attendance are observed. Students must attend 75 per cent. of the lectures in order to appear at the examination. Classes are not held in the evening on Saturday.

4. Standard of Admission.—Candidates who have attended the lectures of the day course are eligible for admission. Others will be admitted, provided they appear qualified for the class or classes they seek to join.

5. Prizes.—Prizes of Rs. 50 each are offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the best candidates from the evening classes in subjects (b), (d), (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j). Three medals are offered by the Remington Typewriter Co. to the best three students of either the day or evening classes in the Typewriting examination.

6. Admission.—Candidates for admission should send in their applications and register their names, with a deposit of fees, before the end of June. Candidates who desire to be admitted in December should apply before the end of November.

TRIENNIAL RESOLUTION ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 11th APRIL 1922.

RESOLUTION—No. 1823M.

READ—

The reports on the operations of the Calcutta Improvement Trust for the years 1918-19, 1919-20 and 1920-21.

1. General.—The Improvement Trust was created in 1912 for the improvement and expansion of Calcutta by opening up congested areas, laying out or altering streets, providing open spaces and for the rehousing of the poorer persons displaced by the execution of improvement schemes. The last triennial resolution referred to the manner in which the work of the Trust has been checked and delayed by the war. Nor did the end of the war bring immediate relief, since engineering materials were still scarce. Moreover, the rise in the rate of interest at which money can be borrowed and the enhanced cost of works, has made the question of finance a pressing one. The development of suburban areas—Cossipore-Chitpore and Maniktola—is no longer possible; it has been decided that the Board should concern itself in the first instance with the construction of main roads in the centre of Calcutta which no other local authority could undertake. Proceeding on this principle the Trust has made substantial progress in the provision of city thoroughfares; the great central avenue scheme is being pushed on the widening of Russa Road is slowly approaching completion and Park Street is already vastly improved, while the important scheme for its extension is making steady progress.

The high cost of building has retarded re-building operations on land sold or exempted by the Trust, and the housing problem in 1920 became most acute. At the same time, a land boom set in; money was cheap and land became a favourite form of investment; the price of land rose to surprising heights. It must be some time before building overtakes the shortage for which the war was responsible.

2. Improvement Schemes.—During the years under review Government sanctioned six improvement schemes; of these two formed the southern section of the great north and south thoroughfares (Central Avenue), one provided for an extensive park which in combination with the fringe area scheme of the Calcutta Corporation will provide splendid recreation grounds for the youth of northern Calcutta, and another scheme provided for the construction of the new main sewer road from Chetla to Ballygunge railway station, which is designed to improve the general drainage of an unhealthy and sparsely populated area.

The first section of the scheme for the improvement of Bara Bazar was published for criticism, but it was held in abeyance pending the alignment of a road system for the whole area. At the time of writing three important series of alignments have been sanctioned and improvement schemes will be taken up in small sections for the 100 acres of almost solid building known as Bara Bazar. The financial question has in this connection assumed special importance; the revenues of the Trust are already mainly earmarked for the long series of improvement and alignment schemes, which have been sanctioned, and if the improvement of Bara Bazar—for which the Trust was primarily constituted—proves costly, its execution could only be financed by the curtailment of the sanctioned programme.

There is, however, reason to believe that many Bara Bazar schemes may yield a profit instead of proving a heavy charge on the revenues of the Trust and after a careful study of the financial position, Government have agreed that the Trust might proceed with its first improvement scheme which will shortly be published; the execution of this scheme will afford data which will enable the Trust to decide whether the transformation of Bara Bazar can be achieved without the curtailment of other part of the general programme or whether a complete revision of the approved schemes will be necessary.

3. Squares and Parks.—In pursuance of the policy of providing open spaces in the north of the town and in the suburbs, the Trust embarked on the selection of sites for parks and squares in Maniktola, Cossipore-Chitpore, Ratan Sarkar Garden Street (Pathuriaghatta), Ramkissen Das Lane (Badurbagan) and Amherst Street.

4. Howrah.—The question of extending the operations of the Trust to Howrah has been the subject of prolonged discussion. Having regard to the urgent necessity of improving Howrah and preventing the growth and perpetuation on the west bank of the Hooghly of conditions which can hereafter be remedied only at enormous expense, the Board of Trustees declared themselves willing to undertake the improvement on suitable financial conditions. As this could not be given effect to without amending the Act, it was decided that a Bill should be prepared; it is hoped that definite proposals for the improvement of Howrah and a draft Bill will shortly be ready.

5. Rehousing Scheme.—For the accommodation of persons displaced by the execution of their schemes, the Trust embarked on the preparation of rehousing schemes and, following the natural tendency of the people of the working class who prefer to live in the sort of hut to which they are accustomed, selected sites were acquired in Beckbagan and Maniktola for the erection of sanitary huts on well-raised plinths. Another site was acquired in Karbala Tank Lane in order to build houses to be let temporarily to persons displaced by improvement schemes. Sanction was also accorded to a scheme for the erection of tenement dwellings and the creation of an open space for the Anglo-Indian population rendered homeless by the section of the Central Avenue to the south of Bow Bazar Street. Land is being acquired in Cossipore-Chitpore for the purpose of providing suitable building sites on which persons of the poorer classes, whose houses have been acquired by the Trust and whose slender means prevent them from purchasing sites in Calcutta, may build new houses under the control of the Trust. The Calcutta Corporation transferred to the Trust the development scheme south of Shambazar Park for reinstating those displaced by improvement schemes in the north of the town. But neither these operations nor the restriction of house rents imposed by the Calcutta Rent Act are sufficient to solve the housing problem in Calcutta. At present, one of the chief obstacles to the expansion and development of Calcutta is the difficulty which building societies and companies experience in obtaining land and securing a firm title. It was on this account that the Calcutta Rents Committee appointed in September 1919 recommended that Government should utilise the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act to acquire land for bodies which had been formed definitely for the provision of housing accommodation. In pursuance of this recommendation a resolution was issued by Government in the year 1920 announcing that they would acquire land under the Land Acquisition Act for approved schemes on behalf and at the cost of registered companies for housing purposes so long as emergent measures are necessary for the development of Calcutta. This resolution had however, subsequently to be withdrawn on account of legal difficulties.

6. Projected public streets.—In order that intending builders—might know clearly how their plans were likely to be affected by the operations of the Trust, as well as to prevent future improvement schemes being blocked by the creation of new buildings, 17 projected public streets were sanctioned, within the alignment of which new buildings cannot be constructed.

7. Finance.—(i) The receipts from the duty on transfer of property, jute tax and the municipal contribution steadily increased. But on the other hand, the pay of the establishment has been revised in view of the increased cost of living; the cost of materials has increased, and in view of the recent land boom, land values are no longer stable. Owing to the scarcity of house accommodation and the hardship caused by evicting householders, the Trust has decided not to carry on demolition of buildings within the area of acquisition until something is done to remedy the house shortage. This delays recoupment by the sale of surplus land. The result is that much capital is locked up in land. The Board decided to raise a loan to carry out its programme of work and was permitted by Government to borrow Rs. 50 lakhs from the Bank of Bengal on collateral security.

(ii) The total income and expenditure under the capital account during the three years ending the 31st March 1921 were, respectively, Rs. 155½ lakhs and Rs. 258 lakhs and those under the revenue account Rs. 118 lakhs and Rs. 25 lakhs. The deficit in the capital account was met from the revenue account which closed with a net balance of Rs. 53 lakhs (as against Rs. 62½ lakhs at the end of 31st March 1918).

8. The Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) desire to thank Mr. Bompas and the other Trustees for the steady progress which has been made in the improvement of Calcutta in spite of the numerous difficulties which have arisen. Mr. Bompas has been Chairman of the Trust from its very inception and his wide experience and sound judgment proved exceptionally valuable in trying times.

By order of the Government of Bengal
(Ministry of Local Self-Government).

S. W. GOODE,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).
